FEBRUARY 2003

Dean's Column

Our Chapter events this season, it seems to me, have featured especially fine musical performances: the spirited and moving choral, solo, and organ music at the October Guild service at the Baptist Temple under direction of George Williams; the use of all kinds of fine music in the demonstration of organs at Yale and New Haven, especially by Thomas Murray; and most recently the striking ensemble and solo singers by Don Barnum and his colleagues and friends in carols, oratorios, and opera.

March offers musical events on each of the first three Sundays. Cantor Joyce Leuchter of Temple Beth Elohim in Park Slope will sing cantorial music and talk to us about customs and liturgy in the synagogue on Sunday, March 2, 3:30 PM. The Temple is on 8th Eighth Avenue at Garfield Place.

The Queens Chapter is presenting a choral program featuring music composed by Brooklyn Chapter members Derek Healey and Brian McAnuff on Sunday, March 9, 4 PM, at Christ Lutheran Church, Little Neck.

Finally, on March 16th at 4:00 PM, the Annual Members' Recital will be held at Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church on their four-manual Austin organ. The location is Lafayette Avenue at So. Oxford Street, a few blocks from BAM. Who will be playing? Why, you, dear reader, if you will just call Aaron Comins (718-332-4762) right now while you still have the pick of the program!

Hope to see you at these events.

As always, best regards, Julian
